Technology center funding loss seen as economically damaging

BY DENA BISNETTE
Administrators at NASA's National Space Technology Laboratories as well as local officials say that Hancock County's economic future will suffer if the Mississippi Technology Transfer Center is not built.

The State Senate has voted to transfer $2.8 million of the funding for the $3.5 million technology center, already under construction at NSTL, to mental health programs.

The State House of Representatives is not expected to deal with the matter this week because of a Friday deadline on its own appropriations bills, but will probably address the funding question next week, Representative Walter James Phillips said Saturday.

Phillips said the appropriation for the technology center is now being treated as a lapsed appropriation, but hopes the funds can be reinstated.

"The State of Mississippi has not contributed one penny to the development of NSTL except for this facility for high technology study, yet it has spent millions in Harrison and Jackson counties on projects like the Port of Gulfport," he said.

He said Governor William Allain and economic development officials are very aware of the economic impact the center could provide, with 175 jobs already planned, including about 45 for the Institute for Naval Oceanography, which Phillips called "not only the best but the largest naval research group in the free world."

With projected growth of the center, about 50 new jobs will be provided for local residents but the high technology nature of the facility will probably attract about 180 families to the Gulf Coast.

Phillips said he was amazed that Senator Bob Usey, who pushed the bill to transfer the funding, would oppose the center because Usey is in the real estate business and should realize its impact on the Coast's housing market.

The representative said he is planning to request additional information on the possible impact of the center from the Mississippi Research and Development Center. Captain Roger Onorati, Commander of Naval Oceanographic Research and Development Activity (NORDA) at NSTL, said the Institute has only three people now and they are housed in NORDA's building.

He said his agency would have to consider new construction if the center is not built. Doing so could take years because of the legislative processes required.

The institute would need office space and conference rooms in addition to a facility to house its computer system for research in ocean forecasting for ships and aircraft.

"I'm optimistic that the whole thing can be worked out," Onorati said.

Roy Estes, deputy director of NSTL, said that the reconsideration of the funding "clearly reflects severe revenue problems in Jackson."

"The state's decision to build the center at NSTL is a good one. It will be beneficial not only to this area but to the entire state," Estes said.

"We are hopeful and confident that the leadership in the legislature, along with the governor, can find a solution to the problem."

He said approximately three quarters of the space in the building, for which NASA will serve as administrator, had been committed for industrial contractors and government agencies.

Hancock County Board of Supervisors President A.A. Kellar said he also feels the action on the technology center funding reflects the state's financial problems.

"I think it's a shame it's gotten to where it is now, where we have to make choices," he said.

"This looks like some kind of political getting back, a repercussion from the lawsuit Gene Taylor and another senator filed against the lieutenant governor and his power. There is no place for that type of thing. It would hurt this whole area," he added.

"Don't they understand that we have already spent a good deal of money on this? Are they just going to leave that hole out there?"

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. and Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr. said they both feel that the technology center should be completed.

"I think the money has to be shared. You just can't put things on the front burner and then abolish them," Longo said.

"Not building the center would be a serious mistake. That's the type of expenditure that's an investment in the future. It would mean both the loss of those jobs when it initially opens and more that would be created in the future," said Frankiewicz.

"Mississippi would be backing out of its commitments."

Plane owner files suit for hurricane damage

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

A Diamondhead resident has filed in Hancock County Circuit Court a $124,650 suit against Bay Aviation, Inc., the fixed base operator at Stennis International Airport.

James O. Boyce is seeking actual and punitive damages as well as compensation for the loss of use of his airplane, which he claims was destroyed during Hurricane Elena due to the defendant's "lack of reasonable care and foresight."

According to Boyce, he had an oral contract with Bay Aviation, a firm operated by Andrew B. Ewing, to provide tie-down service for his airplane.

"The airplane was totally destroyed when the winds of Hurricane Elena lifted the airplane off the ground turning it over, crashing it to the ground and destroyed the airplane," the complaint states.

Boyce also alleges that Bay Aviation "negligently or willfully" used faulty ropes to tie down the plane, that the damage could have been prevented by the exercise of reasonable care and that the damage to the airplane was not due exclusively to natural causes.

Bay Aviation denies the existence of the oral contract for tie-down services and that the airplane was in the care of the company when damaged by the winds of Hurricane Elena.

The defendant claims that the damage to the plane was the "result of an act of God for which the defendant may not be held liable."

Bay Aviation also denied that Boyce was entitled to recover any sum whatsoever to compensate for damages to the airplane.

According to the defenses filed, Boyce assumed all the risk connected to the tie down of his plane and was responsible for the tie down.

The defenses also state that the plaintiff's negligence was the cause of the destruction of his airplane.

Juveniles arrested, vehicle recovered

BY DENA BISNETTE

Two male juveniles, both 16, are being held in the Hancock County jail for Georgia authorities. They are being charged with auto theft.

The two were arrested at about 4:30 a.m. Saturday by Hancock County Sheriff's Deputies Michael Siebert and Joe Pica after the officers stopped to help the youths with an apparently broken down jeep on US-90 near Waveland Avenue.

The jeep, black with a Georgia tag, had been reported stolen in Thomasville, Ga. In addition, both juveniles were listed as runaways, according to Sheriff's Department Investigator Glen Strong.

Senate committee approves Gex federal judgeship

BY DENA BISNETTE

The U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee has approved the proposed federal judgeship appointment of Bay St. Louis attorney Walter Gex III for consideration by the full Senate.

If the appointment is confirmed by the full Senate, Gex will receive a commission signed by President Ronald Reagan.

Gex was in Jackson Friday to attend the funeral of Senator James O. Eastland, but the attorney's secretary, Kathy Ladner, said

Senate confirmation is expected and could be received as early as this week.

She said Senator Thad Cochran, who nominated Gex for the judgeship in Mississippi's Southern District in April, had telephoned the attorney to tell him that the committee's approval was unanimous.

If Gex is appointed, he will be based at the Federal Courthouse in Biloxi. He will also be one of two sitting district judges from Hancock County. The other is Bay St. Louis resident Dan Russell.

Clean our beach day draws 400 workers

BY DENA BISNETTE

Hancock County Clean Our Beach Day attracted almost 400 volunteers Saturday.

Volunteers of all ages, many representing clubs, civic groups and schools, turned out despite a light rain and cleaned sections of the beachfront from Bay St. Louis to Clermont Harbor.

The clean-up was designed primarily to remove broken glass and sharp objects from below the water line, but litter of all types was collected.

The trash was packaged and stacked by the seawall for collection. The board of supervisors will provide county vehicles and workers to collect the debris on Monday or Tuesday, Clean-up Co-Chairman Ellis Cuevas said.

Cuevas said most volunteers were local, but many came from the New Orleans area to help out and four Canadian visitors to Waveland pitched in as well.

"We covered most of the area we had hoped to clean," Co-chairman John Scafide Jr. said. "We may not have gotten everything but we got all the dangerous stuff."

Cuevas said the supervisors plan to keep a record of how many truckloads of debris were collected.

Both Cuevas and Scafide termed the project a success.

As an incentive to volunteers, 44 gifts donated by local merchants were given away as well as a $100 grand prize, which was won by Susanna Cameron of Bay St. Louis.

The project was sponsored by the supervisors in cooperation with the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, Hancock County Extension Service and the Sand Beach Technical Advisory Council.

counted for gas in the city each year. For several years, Bay St. Louis has been paying more than $100,000 for gas that has been purchased by the city but there is no record what happens to the gas.

In 1985, the city paid approximately $145,000 for unaccounted gas, City Clerk Edward Favre said.

"But with corrections and repairs already made and those planned for the near future, the amount is expected to be around $50,000 for 1986 or about six percent unaccounted gas," he added.

Favre said there is generally some unaccounted for gas, no matter how good the system.

"There is usually a three to five percent loss on unaccounted gas even in really good systems," he said.

Favre said the city's goal is to continue repairs and corrections until there is less than two percent unaccounted gas.

Favre said there are many factors that contribute to the amount of unaccounted gas. These include leaks, faulty meters, errors in meter reading, bookkeeping errors and incidents where residents are bypassing the use of a meter to obtain gas from city lines.

Protection of existing steel lines, replacement of deteriorating lines and leak surveys are some of the methods used to decrease the amount of gas lost through leaks, Favre said.

Currently 15 to 18 miles of steel lines are being protected from further deterioration by the use of an electric charge on the lines called cathodic protection.

At the end of 1985 nearly one half of the line in the entire system or about 25 miles of gas lines have been replaced, Favre said.

Leak surveys are also conducted regularly to detect any problems. Faulty meters are also being replaced and checked regularly to prevent the loss of gas in this manner, Favre said.

Incorrect meter reading has not been a major problem but the meter readers are receiving extra instructions and have been told to use extra care to prevent errors, he said.

Favre also reported that recent investigations at both Bay Senior High and St. Stanislaus College led to the discovery of an error in the reading of the meters, which corrected an error of several thousand dollars due to the city.

Firefighters complete training at Diamondhead

Some 75 firefighters from volunteer and professional departments in Hancock and Harrison counties completed a four-day training program hosted by the Diamondhead Fire Department.

Chief Dennis Westbrook of Diamondhead said the personnel received certificates from the Mississippi State Fire Academy, sponsor of the program, upon completion of the training Friday night. Academy associate instructor

Steve Moore, training officer for the Biloxi Fire Department, conducted the program at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Training was provided on fire apparatus driving and fire fighting command.

Among departments participating were Delisle, Bay St. Louis, Waveland, East Hancock, West Hancock, Clermont Harbor, Kiln, Leetown, Orange Grove, Wiggins, Woolmarket, Diamondhead and BaySide Park.

'Speaking Oracles of God'

—1 Peter 4:11

UNDERSTANDING THE HOLY SPIRIT

The true nature and work of the Holy Spirit is little understood. Many superstitions and mysterious ideas have been mixed in the traditions of religious dogmas.

The doctrine of the Holy Spirit embraced the whole Bible. We read in Genesis 1:2, "...and the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters." In Revelations 22:17 the statement is made, "The Spirit and the Bride say, Come."

The Bible is a part of the Holy Spirit's work.

All 66 books are inspired. Paul wrote to Timothy, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God..." (II Timothy 3:16)

Peter stated, "For the prophecy in old time came not by the will of man, but by men of God spoke as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." (II Peter 1:21)

The judge and prophet Samuel said, "The Spirit of the Lord spake by me and his work was in my tongue." (II Samuel 23:2)

When we read the Bible we read the teachings of the Holy Spirit himself. Paul taught, "But we received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit which is from God; that we might know the things that were freely given to us of God. Which things also we speak not in words which man's wisdom teacheth but which the Spirit teacheth; combining spiritual things with spiritual words." (I Corinthians 2:12-13)

This passage teaches plenary verbal inspiration. Therefore the Bible is the inerrant revelation of God. To the Ephesians Paul said the reader can understand what he reads. He wrote, "...how that by revelation was made known unto me the mystery, as I wrote before in few words, whereby, when ye read, ye can perceive my understanding in the mystery of Christ." (Ephesians 3:3-4)

The Holy Spirit is a part of the Godhead. The expression "Godhead" is found three times (Acts 17:29, Romans 1:20 and Colossians 2:9) in the King James version of the Bible. Other versions translate "hupavxontes tou theou" as divine being or diety.

"The Trinity" has always worked together. The three are God, the Father; God, the son; and God, the Holy Spirit. In the creation of the world we see God, the Father as the designer. (Genesis 1:1, Psalms 19:1) God, the Son was and is the executor of the design.

Paul stated "For by Him were all things created, that are in heaven and that are in earth, visible and invisible... all things were created by Him, and for Him." (Colossians 1:16)

The context shows the pronoun 'Him' refers to the Son of God. John states, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

Also from John, "And the word was made flesh, and dwelt among us, and we beheld his glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father..."

These passages show their cooperating together. God, the Holy Spirit was the finisher of the Father's design.

After the creation we read, "And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep, and the Spirit of God moved the creation of man."

"And God said, Let us make man in our own image, after our likeness..." (Genesis 1:26)

We bear the image of all three personalities of deity.

All three members of the Godhead are one.

They are eternal in nature. (Psalms 90:2)

They are one in their work and testimony. Peter taught, "For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word and the Holy Ghost, and these three agree in one." (I John 5:7)

Paul concluded in II Corinthians with these words, "The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all, amen." (II Corinthians 13:14)

They are three separate personalities. When Jesus was baptized all three personalities were present in three different locations. Jesus was coming up out of the water, the Spirit was descending like a dove, and God, the Father was speaking from heaven acknowledging Jesus as His Beloved Son. (Matthew 3:16-17)

Baptism under the great commission of Jesus is to be done in the name of and by the authority of all three personalities. (Matthew 28:19)

The inspired Peter tells of the resurrected Son being exalted at the right hand of God and the Holy Spirit had come in the baptismal manifestation. (Acts 2:33)

All three are holy and divine.

We need to note the terms "Holy Spirit" and "Holy Ghost." Holy Ghost appears only in the King James version. It was translated during an age of mysticism. The Greek word is Pneuma and should be translated Spirit.

The Holy Spirit is a person, as much so as is God or Christ.

The King James version is inconsistent in referring to the Holy Spirit as "it." The Holy Spirit has the same feelings as God or Christ. Isaiah 53:10 speaks of putting the Lord to grief, and Ephesians 4:30 says, "And grieve not the Holy Spirit of God." Paul taught, "quench not the Spirit." (I Thessalonians 5:19)

Annasians lied to the Holy Spirit concerning his gift. (Acts 5:3)

(To be continued in another lesson)

FIRE CHIEFS—Outgoing Waveland Fire Chief Donald McIntyre congratulates his successor, David Garcia, whose appointment to the position was approved

Garcia succeeds McIntyre as fire chief

BY DENA BISNETTE
Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy David Garcia has been named chief of the Waveland Fire Department.

Garcia succeeds Donald McIntyre who resigned Wednesday after 19 years service. McIntyre will remain a member of the fire department's volunteer division.

A letter of resignation that McIntyre submitted to Mayor John Longo

Jr. and the Waveland Board of Aldermen stated that McIntyre, who has also been holding a full-time job at National Space Technology Laboratories, is unable to be available during normal business hours.

McIntyre said he feels the fire department has grown so much in recent years that it has become necessary for the chief to be on duty during normal working hours.

He said he would be available to assist Garcia in an advisory capacity.

In making the motion to accept the resignation, Alderman Louis Smolensky praised McIntyre for doing an "outstanding job" while serving as fire chief.

In other business Wednesday, the aldermen:

—Approved a tax exemption for a parcel of property owned by Loyola University; and —Took bids under advisement for a chlorinator, a 50 horsepower motor for the utilities department and reconditioning of a pumper truck for the fire department.

The board meets again at 7:30 p.m. March 4.

Youth injured in accident

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Waveland teenager underwent surgery late Saturday afternoon for injuries sustained when he was apparently hit by a vehicle on Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis.

A spokesman for Memorial Hospital in Gulfport said Samuel Seymour was transferred there after being taken to Hancock General Hospital, but was unable to provide a report on his condition because surgery was in progress.

Bay Police Investigator David Murtagh said he could not provide details of the accident, which occurred at about 10:30 p.m. Friday in front of the Ulman Avenue pier.

However, he stated that Seymour was the only one injured in the incident, which is under investigation.

Discovery Bay sold

Discovery Bay, a residential development north of Pass Christian, has been sold for $213,000.

According to a report in the New Orleans Times-Picayune real estate section, the sale was unanimously approved last week by stockholders of Mississippi Reorganized Company and members of the Discovery Bay Property Owners Association.

The marina, yacht club and office building and unsold lots of the development on the Wolf River were purchased Jan. 17 by Philip P. Pepper of Gonzales, La., and his brother, Henry L. Pepper.

Philip Pepper is retired associate director of the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital at Carville, La., and Henry Pepper is a real estate coordinator for the Port of New Orleans.

The two say they plan full-time development of Discovery Bay.

Also during the meeting, which was attended by more than 200 stockholders and property owners, Charles S. Wicks of Algiers, La., resigned as president of Mississippi Reorganized Company, which was formed by property owners in 1980 out of the bankruptcy of North American Acceptance Corporation.

Do you ever feel that, while life's parade didn't pass you by, it was only because it went down a street on the other side of town?

VOTE FOR JOHN MASON
SATURDAY, MARCH 1, 1986
2 p.m. - 5 p.m.
WAVELAND ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Paid political advertisement by John Mason.

Quotables by CUEVAS

An important election will be held next Saturday at the Waveland Elementary School from 2 to 5 p.m.

The election will be for a school board member for all citizens living outside the corporate limits of Bay St. Louis and belonging to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District.

Incumbent school board member Walter Turcotte did not seek re-election and there are three candidates vying for the position.

In alphabetical order the candidates are Clarence C. Harris, John C. Mason, and Linda Penrose.

The position of school board member is a very important position, and we hope each person qualified to vote will cast their ballot for the candidate of their choice.

Remember to vote Saturday, March 1 for the selection of a school board member.

We noted last week some state highway crewmen and equipment busy on Highway 603 cleaning the drainage ditches.

This is very good as they were beginning to become clogged because of grass and debris.

Highway 603 always appears to be in the limelight of Hancock County citizens, especially those who want it four-laned because of the numerous accidents.

It is hoped one day that the highway running from one end of the county to the other will be four lanes.

The recent stories about the cuts in manpower for the Mississippi Highway Patrol has many folks very concerned.

There are so many miles of highways in Hancock County that it is now hard for the State Troopers assigned to this county to properly patrol.

If the number of patrolmen are cut, it will really mean a serious setback to traffic enforcement on highways in Hancock County.

Congratulations are in order for Connally Compretta on her being selected as the 1986 Miss Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Compretta will be representing our chamber at many functions during the coming year, and we feel she will be a great asset to our county.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Compretta of Bay St. Louis and a freshman at the University of Mississippi, majoring in business.

It is good to see 4-H activities on the increase again in Hancock County.

Our 4-H program was at a standstill for several months due to the lack of an agent.

Daney Jackson, the new 4-H agent, has been reorganizing the program and his encouragements and hard work of several youths were evident in a recent District Livestock Show held in Hattiesburg.

Several of Hancock County 4-H'ers placed in the competition, and we want to congratulate them.

Any youngster interested in the 4-H program in Hancock County can reach Jackson at 467-5456.

Senator Cochran says farmers may apply for disaster loans

Farmers in 54 Mississippi Counties may be eligible to receive Farmers Home Administration disaster loans due to severe weather damage, Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) said.

Senator Cochran said the Farmers Home Administration informed him it has declared 24 Mississippi counties as natural disaster areas due to severe storms in the state between October 1, and November 30, 1985. This includes damage due to the effects of Hurricane Juan.

Farmers who qualify could receive loans of up to 80 percent of their actual crop loss, with a maximum loan level of $500,000. FmHA officials said the minimum loan rate for qualifying farmers is five percent.

Those counties declared as disaster areas include: Adams, Bolivar, Copiah, Franklin, Hancock, Hinds, Holmes, Issaquena, Jefferson, Jeff Davis, Kemper and Lamar. Other counties under this designation are: Lawrence, Lincoln, Neshoba, Pearl River, Rankin, Sharkey, Smith, Sunflower, Tishomingo, Warren, Wilkinson and Yazoo.

Farmers in 30 other counties in the state may be eligible for the FmHA disaster assistance loans, although their county was not included in the disaster declaration. These counties where there is evidence of some loss due to severe weather and farmers can apply for the disaster loans include: Alcorn, Amite, Attala, Carroll, Claiborne, Coahoma, Covington, Forrest, Harrison, Humphreys and Itawamba.

Other counties in this category are: Jasper, Jones, Lauderdale, Leflore, Lowndes, Madison, Marion, Neshoba, Newton, Oktibbeha, Pike, Prentiss, Scott, Simpson, Stone, Tallahatchie, Walthall, Washington and Winston.

Farmers are urged to contact their local ASCS office for details.

IN CONGRESS By Cong. Trent Lott

THE SECOND SESSION'S FULL AGENDA

The Second Session of the 99th Congress is underway, and it is going to be a fast-moving one.

The Congress will receive the President's budget message on Feb. 3, and a lot of time will be taken up in February and March on budget matters. First we face the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction package which requires us to move toward a balanced budget over the next five years.

I want to assure those of you who have contacted me with your concerns about the impact of Gramm-Rudman that I am looking cautiously at how the Congress will put this new legislation into effect and how it will apply to many programs.

But I am convinced that if we do our job in the Congress working with the President, there will be no need for the sequestration or automatic across-the-board cuts in defense and social programs called for in the law.

That procedure only takes place if Congress cannot reach an agreement on how to make reductions in spending.

We also will be looking at the budget for the 1987 fiscal year, and with it the consideration of some new ideas. In approaching the budget, I want to look at what we can do that will assist the working man and woman for their future and that of their children's.

For instance, when looking to find some savings in spending in federal programs like Amtrak or urban mass transportation, we shouldn't ask ourselves, is there inconvenience here if some reductions are made.

We must ask, can that man or woman make better use of that money by keeping it in their pockets or by spending it in some other area. It is a question of priorities.

We once again will look at the question of whether or not the federal government can sell off some of its assets, perhaps sell off some of its federal lands.

I feel very strongly that the federal government owns too much land, and I think we could raise billions of dollars with the sale of some of it.

We also are going to take a look at other federal activities that could be handled or handled better by private enterprise.

Aside from the budget, Congress is going to continue to work on improving fair trade. I know that there are some areas where trade policy has not worked well, and we have too much of a trade deficit.

There will be a lot of time spent in the foreign policy area. We must decide what we will do about the situation in Nicaragua with its oppressive communist-run government. And we have problems, as you know, with terrorism in Libya and Angola.

We will take up the so-called reconciliation bill left over from the First Session of this Congress. It contains a provision which would mean about $50 million to Mississippi in shared revenues from offshore oil and gas exploration. I will continue to push for passage of that legislation in the right form.

And, once again we will try to deal with the problem of illegal aliens. The Senate already has passed an immigration reform bill. The House of Representatives needs to act.

My annual questionnaire, through which I am seeking your opinion on these major issues, is again in the mail to you. Your input is vital to me as I am called upon to cast my votes for the Fifth Congressional District.

When you receive your questionnaire, I hope you will take a moment to fill it out and return it to me by February 28. If you have not received a copy, you may do so by contacting my district offices in Gulfport, Hattiesburg or Pascagoula or by calling my office in Washington.

I want your guidance as we continue in this Second Session of the 99th Congress.

School bus driver responds to complaint

Feb. 20, 1986
Sea Coast Editor

Dear Editor:

In response to your publication in Letters to The Editor from Ann Shiyon concerning complaints against school bus drivers going 'unheeded,' I would like to say that I am the driver mentioned.

I regret the accidental killing of their dog, however, even after looking out of the windows and all the mirrors, I didn't see the dog because apparently it was under the bus.

None of the students saw the dog or yelled until the incident occurred. This incident has not gone unheeded, as I have filed a detailed report, including testimony from students on the bus and have had a personal meeting with my supervisor and the superintendent of education.

There are no charges being brought against me by the school board because I was completely cleared of this incident.

I consider myself a driver concerned with the safety of the students. If anyone feels he or she has the 'cope-ability' to drive a bus carrying an average of 66 students twice a day, he or she should apply and attend the many public bus driving schools being held in this county.

Sincerely,
Yvonne G. McLaughlin
Hancock North Central

Students report school bus incident an unavoidable accident

Dear Editor,

We, the students at Hancock North Central on bus No. 19, feel that Ann Shiyon is making a big mistake of accusing our bus driver on running over her dog on purpose.

It was totally an accident.

Parents for Quality Education urge attendance at kindergarten review meeting

To the Editor:

The Bay-Waveland School Board of Trustees has scheduled a special meeting for Monday, Feb. 24 at 7 p.m.

Purpose of this special called meeting is to examine and approve the Bay-Waveland Public Kindergarten Application which must arrive in Jackson at the State Department of Education office Friday, Feb. 28.

The failure on the part of our trustees to submit a timely application which meets all minimum standards could possibly jeopardize this school district's Minimum Foundation Funds.

This would of course spell disaster for our community, since we cannot possibly fund our school system with only local tax dollars.

Punctuality, of course, is not the only requirement to be concerned about regarding this application.

Also to be discussed will be the philosophy for early childhood education which will be adopted by our district, the teaching methodology, curriculum, housing, and busing of these young children.

This is a very big step for our community, and the seriousness with which we address it will undoubtedly contribute to its success or failure.

Therefore, the Bay-Waveland Parents for Quality Education urge not only all parents of children entering public kindergarten this September, but our elected officials as well, to attend and offer their support for the program.

We shall look forward to seeing you at the superintendent's office, Bay Senior High School, at 7 p.m. on Monday evening.

Sincerely yours,
Lana Noonan
Chairman
Kindergarten Committee
Bay-Waveland Parents for Quality Education

Free legal assistance to be offered Mar. 5

February 19, 1986
Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m. on Wednesday, March 5, a staff of volunteer attorneys will be answering legal questions from the general public at 1-374-4160, which is toll-free within the six southern counties of Mississippi and TTY/TDD-equipped for the deaf.

Although the number is toll-free, those calls made from a pay telephone are not and must be made collect.

This service is sponsored by the Harrison County Young Lawyers, the South Mississippi Planning and Development District's Area Agency on Aging, and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

The "First Wednesday Legal Line" offers the public an opportunity to call for legal information and referral services for a specific problem. This service is especially intended for the elderly, handicapped and low-income individual who may not have access to an attorney or who may not know whether their problem requires the assistance of one.

However, everyone with a question about the law is encouraged to call.

Very truly yours,
Stanley L. Taylor Jr.
Executive Director
South Mississippi Legal Services Corp.

How to keep your child away from drugs.

Arming them in a suit of steel might help. But once they leave your home, they're really on their own.

What can you do? Learn to recognize the symptoms of drug abuse. Look for falling grades in school. And irrational behavior. But most importantly, keep your lines of communication open with your children.

Encourage them to tell you if they get offers of drugs. Show them you understand about peer pressure and how tough it is to walk away.

Teach your children to resist offers of drugs with a simple no.

SBA awards $65,000 to Gulf Park center

The U.S. Small Business Administration has awarded $65,000 for operation of the University of Southern Mississippi Management Assistance Center, located in Long Beach on the USM-Gulf Park Campus.

Organized in 1981 through the USM College of Business Administration, the Management Assistance Center assists small businesses along the Mississippi Gulf Coast, according to Becky Montgomery, director of the center.

"If someone wants to start a business, we help them with a feasibility study, along with some demographics and socio-economic data," explains Montgomery, who heads a four-person staff, headquartered in a building on the east edge of the Gulf Park campus.

The center provides assistance completing SBA loan packages necessary for securing loans, offers recommendations for marketing or advertising and sponsors conferences, workshops and seminars geared to topics of interest for small business owners.

The USM Management Assistance Center, which has about 100 clients to date for the 1985-86 fiscal year, surpassed its goal of serving 335 clients during the 1984-85 fiscal year and should do the same this year, Montgomery said.

Point of Law

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your legal rights.)

Q. What is title insurance and does a buyer need to purchase it?

A. If the buyer is obtaining a mortgage loan, the lender will require title insurance in the amount of the loan to protect himself against possible loss. This insurance however does not protect the owner in the event that defects are found in the title. Owners title insurance insures the new owners' equity in the property. It is optional.

Q. How should a buyer take title?

A. Title may be taken by an individual or by two or more parties in a joint ownership. If the parties are husband and wife, it is common to take title as joint owners with right of survivorship, so that the death of one party, title to the entire property is turned over to the survivor. However, estate taxes should be considered before deciding on this form of ownership.

Q. I am in serious financial trouble and desire to file for protection under the bankruptcy laws. However, I am concerned that if I go bankrupt, my creditors will simply collect from my parents, who have co-signed on most of my obligations. Is there a way I can protect my parents and still obtain some relief from my debts?

A. If you file a petition under Chapter 13 of the bankruptcy laws, your creditors may not seek to collect the debts from your parents without receiving court approval.

In general, the creditors cannot recover from your parents until it is demonstrated that they will not be paid by you.

Because Chapter 13 will permit you to delay payment of your debts and spread them out over three to five years, it may be that your parents can be protected from having to pay.

Q. Judgement was entered against me last year in the amount of $40,000 for defrauding a widow to whom I had sold life insurance. I have been unable to pay the judgement and the widow's lawyer is threatening to take away my family's home. Is there anything I can do?

A. You may be able to obtain a discharge from your liability to the widow by filing a petition under Chapter 13 of the bankruptcy laws.

Under Chapter 13, you will be required to devote that portion of your income which is in excess of that reasonably necessary for you and your family's living expenses to payment of your debts over the next three to five years.

If you obtain court approval of a plan for repaying a part of your debts, you may be able to reduce or avoid entirely your liability to the widow.

Small portions, nutritious foods train children to eat well

By Melissa Nixon

Food and Nutrition Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

Most parents worry about whether their children are getting enough of the right kinds of food. Many parents are convinced that their children are not eating enough.

How can parents tell if their children are eating the right kinds of food and the right amounts? The following are some tips:

—Ask the child's physician to show you how the child is doing according to the growth chart in the child's medical record.

The physician looks for two things in the growth chart: whether the child is growing within the expected range for his or her age and sex, and if the child is following a consistent growth pattern.

The rate and consistency at which a child grows is determined by his or her nutritional status, medical history and hereditary factors.

—Look at your child objectively or ask a friend to do so. Does the child look healthy? The skin should be an attractive color and texture. The child should be alert, active and interested in his or her surroundings.

—Ask the child's physician about the child's iron levels. Iron is essential to the formation of hemoglobin in blood and myoglobin in muscles. Both of these supply oxygen to the cells.

Iron-rich foods include dried beans and peas, green vegetables and iron-fortified cereals. Eating foods rich in vitamin C, such as citrus fruit or tomatoes, boosts the iron absorption.

If the child is not eating and growing well, the following are some tips to help the picky eater:

—Clear the house of foods low in nutritional quality. Children may be more interested in drinking milk if the refrigerator is not full of soft drinks.

Peanut butter or cheese and crackers may be the snack of choice if the candy drawer and cookie jar are empty.

—Children are influenced by their parents' food choices. If parents do not eat green vegetables, chances are good the children will not eat them either. Parents should take care not to discuss food dislikes around children.

pieces so each pound of potatoes will give you about 10 seed pieces with each piece about the size of a hen's egg or weighing 1.5 to two ounces. Each piece should have at least one eye.

After cutting the seed potatoes, keep them at 60 degrees Fahrenheit or room temperature for a week to allow the cut surfaces to heal. Then plant the pieces about one foot apart and three to four inches deep.

English peas thrive in the cool weather of early spring so plant early to obtain high yields. The peas with wrinkled seed are sweeter than those with smooth seed so select varieties like Laxton, Green Arrow, Venus or Progress. Also, consider some of the edible pod types like Sugar Snap, Snappy, Sugar Daddy, Sugar Bon or Sugar Ann.

Plant pea seed in a well-drained, fertile soil with the seed about an inch apart. Double rows six to eight inches apart planted on a flat bed will help support one another and increase yields for a given space. The variety Novella has many tendrils and almost no leaves and should be planted in double rows.

Onion sets, the small dry bulbs, are frequently more successful than the young transplants since they are more cold hardy and do not suffer any transplant shock. Plant sets or transplants of varieties like Crystal Wax, Granex 33 (Vidalia) and New Mexico Grano one to two inches apart in double rows on a flat bed. Choose a well-drained, fertile soil high in organic matter.

Thin the onions when they reach a usable size and use them as green onions for salads. Occasionally, some plants will send up a flower bud. These plants should be used as green onions since they will not make a good bulb.

During mid-spring when the onion plants are growing rapidly, they will need side dressing with a nitrogen fertilizer. The soil should never be allowed to become completely dry to prevent injuring the shallow root system.

Even though it's early, you may be ahead of the game to prepare a row, scatter some lettuce seed across the top and scratch it in lightly. When conditions are right, the seed will germinate and you should have some very early lettuce.

Early Vegetables Can Be Planted Now

By Milo Burnham
Horticulture Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

Officially it's winter, but vegetable gardening activity is already underway across the state. Seed catalogs have been arriving almost daily and 1986 seed displays are popping up in nurseries, garden centers, co-ops and grocery stores.

Planting time for our most important garden vegetables is still several weeks away but there are a couple of vegetables that need to be planted early, even though the threat of cold and snow lingers on. The earliest vegetables to go in the garden are Irish potatoes, English peas and onions.

Even though Irish potatoes are very frost sensitive, they are planted early since it takes about a month for the sprouts to emerge through the soil surface. Potatoes need about 120 days from planting until harvest. While planting in warmer weather may benefit the plants, the hot temperatures of late spring and early summer injure the potatoes that are forming.

The potato varieties for the South are Red Lasoda, Red Pontiac, LaChippie, Superior and Norchip. Your chances of success are greatly increased by planting certified seed potatoes grown in the North because they are free of diseases that reduce yields.

When purchasing seed potatoes, plan on 10 pounds for each 100 feet of row that you plan to plant. Large seed potatoes must be cut into smaller

On Warranties...

Even if you have a broad warranty, it's only a slip of paper. If you have a problem with a product, you must complain. When you complain, remember to keep every scrap of paper, log all your telephone calls, and send letters by certified mail.

As a last resort, consult your local consumer protection office or the Better Business Bureau. If a repairman fixes an appliance under warranty, be sure you get a receipt, even if there is no charge.

According to the Magnuson-Moss Act, if a product was inadequately repaired before the warranty expired, your warranty may be automatically extended. Your receipt will be your proof even if it is marked no charge.

For more information on where to complain about a product or service at the local or national level, contact the Coast Consumer Management Center in Biloxi at 388-4710. We will be able to help you locate the proper agency for notification.

(Source: Home, 1986)

To get the best service...

* Know your service agency and the terms of your appliance warranty before you purchase.

* Keep an "appliance file" of use and care manuals, warranties, sales receipts and service history for all your appliances in a convenient spot for easy reference.

* Study the use and care manual and refer to it often.

* Have the installer, electrician or plumber check to make sure your household wiring and gas lines are adequate.

* Budget for appliance repairs and replacement.

* Check plugs, fuses, pilots, controls and your use and care manual before calling for service.

* Call your dealer, the service agency he recommends or an organization "franchised" by the manufacturer if your appliance needs service.

—Don't overwhelm children with choices. Some children lose interest in eating if they have too many choices. Keep the menu simple.

—Parents should eat with their children. Children enjoy company and may be more prone to eat if parents eat with them rather than putting food down in front of them while their parents do other things.

—Children have small stomachs. Be careful not to let them fill up on liquids right before dinner. Serve child-size portions. Don't compare the child's servings to an adult's.

—When the child doesn't eat, don't fuss. Resist the urge to offer high-sugar, high-fat foods as snacks. Children learn quickly that the way to get cookies and candy between meals is to refuse to eat at mealtimes.

If the child requests a snack before the next meal, offer a nutritious food. This is also a time to offer a food that was not well accepted at mealtimes.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Bay Waveland Garden Club

Bay St. Louis Mayor Victor Frankiewicz was the featured speaker at the February 13 meeting of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club.

His theme was in keeping with the objectives of the Garden Club in its community activities. Mayor Frankiewicz discussed ways and means of improving the city while preserving the old historical sites and facilities that add to its charm and character.

"The city has many ongoing programs to improve streets, parks, playgrounds, sewers, and other municipal objectives," Frankiewicz stated. "Individual efforts of Garden Club members and other citizens to clean personal property, plant trees, prevent littering, create 'bright spots', and generally promote the appearance of the city enhance the city's efforts," he said.

February 22, was designated as "Clean our Beach" Day. All members were encouraged to "talk up" the project and meet at the Waveland American Legion Post for assignment of tasks and areas. This was a county-wide project to prepare for the arrival of visitors for the Pilgrimage.

Ruth Griffin gave an interesting horticulture report on the kalanchoe.

Audrey Baud reported that the Community Beautification Award was given to the Shell Oil Station, corner of Hwy. 90 and Main Street. Arbor Day will be celebrated at St. Clare School and Christ Episcopal Day School. Two crepe myrtle trees will be presented to each school.

The Garden of the Month in Bay St. Louis was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. David Treutel, 132 Charles, and in Waveland to Leslie C. Clark, 907 Wood.

President Alyce Newkirk announced that the club had been awarded first place for its yearbook. Congratulations were extended to Virginia Larroux and Aggie Tompson who were responsible for it.

Library arrangements were placed in the Bay St. Louis library and the Waveland library by Donna Van Wyckhouse and Marge Crosby.

Margaret Shadoin gave a very interesting and informative report on the butterfly using graphic pictures illustrating its entire life span.

Mrs. N. L. Snider introduced the hostesses - Mrs. H. D. Warner, Mrs. Robert Autenreith, Mrs. S. P. Cucullu, Mrs. Peter Brotmeyer, Mrs. B. A. Shipman, Mrs. Neil Jeffrey, Mrs. Harold Powell, Mrs. Marriack Rodi, Mrs. Dan Russell and Mrs. Jack Mohr who prepared and served a delicious array of refreshments.

HISTORIC PLACE—Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, this restored two-story structure at 125 Court St. in Bay St. Louis will be open to the public from noon to 4 p.m. during the Bay St. Louis Tour of the 1986 Spring Pilgrimage Thursday, Feb. 27. The 5,500 square-foot building was built around 1920 as the home of the Emile Gex family. The property was acquired by McDonald Realty in the early 1950s and converted into three apartments. From 1975 to 1982 the address was location of Harbor House, a group foster home for teenage girls. Under the direction of Robert Kane of McDonald Realty, the home was renovated and restored in 1983 and currently houses the law offices of attorney Ann Clark Lazzara of Waveland. The Bay St. Louis tour is sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club and the pilgrimage is under the direction of Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs. (Bay-Waveland Garden Club photo)

BAY TOUR STOP—The law office of Bay St. Louis attorney Henry Cook is currently housed in this framed cottage originally built some 75 years ago as a summer residence for the Grevemberg family at 125 Court St. Subsequently, the structure served as the county library and again as a private residence. The building will be open to the public from noon to 4 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27 as a stop on the Bay St. Louis Tour sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club in conjunction with the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs 1986 Spring Pilgrimage.

MR. AND MRS. BRIAN JOSEPH CARO

Caro-Green

Rea Ann Green became the bride of Brian Joseph Caro in an afternoon ceremony on January 4 at St. Clare Catholic Church. The Rev. John O'Brien officiated.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Betty Green of Clermont Harbor and the late George Green. The groom's parents are Mrs. Inez Caro of Waveland and the late Joseph Caro.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Mildred Means of Waveland, organist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Patrick Green, the bride wore a formal gown of white chantilly lace over bridal taffeta, featuring a Queen Anne neckline and full bishop sleeves. The lace was adorned with seed pearls and embellished the front of the A-line gown. She wore a single strand of pearls and a crown of silk flowers held her veil of illusion.

The bride carried a cascade of roses and baby's breath.

Cheryl Nelson of Bay St. Louis, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Maid of honor was Pamela Green of Chicago, Ill., sister of the bride.

Mrs. Nelson wore a floor length gown of maroon with matching sheer cape. She carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations with baby's breath.

Ms. Green wore a blue street length dress and carried matching flowers.

Allen Spence of Kiln was best man.

Tommy Nelson of Bay St. Louis, brother-in-law of the groom, was groomsmen.

Ushers were George Green Jr. and Wayne Green of Pass Christian, brothers of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony at Bea's Arcade in Waveland. Decorations were wedding bells and rainbow theme arrangements. The bride's table held a wedding cake decorated with a pink fountain and miniature staircase and was made by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thomas.

The reception was hosted by Bonita Heard and Mary Hinds of Waveland. Assisting were Mrs. Zel Ferrel of Waveland, Cheryl Nelson of Bay St. Louis and George Moore of LaPlace, La.

The couple resides in Waveland.

Pre-nuptial parties

A miscellaneous shower was hosted by Cheryl Nelson. Another miscellaneous shower was held in the home of Maria Smith in Clermont Harbor. Hostesses were Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Doris Peterson, Mrs. Marilyn Thornton, Theresa Peterson and Mrs. Lillian Garcia.

The origins of Southern cooking

(The following article is the result of a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities to the Mississippi Press Association. The opinions are those of the author and not of either organization.)

By Patti Carr Black
State Historical Museum

JACKSON—Summertime eating is one of the glories of Mississippi. Southern cooking, now gaining popularity nationwide, is thought of as a regional cuisine. In truth, it had its genesis in a remarkable amalgam of international black cultures.

Much of what we think of as Southern cooking is a direct legacy from West Africa. The slave quarters of southern farms and plantations brought together many diverse tribal nations.

Cooking styles and verbal exchanges of recipes led to the development of an intertribal cooking style in America which was nurtured by the women given the responsibility of cooking for their owners or their fellow slaves. Passed down through generations of black women in the kitchens of the South, we now think of it as "down home" cooking.

Not only were culinary techniques, such as deep fat frying, brought over with the slaves, but many ingredients in American Kitchens came from West Africa: okra, sesame seeds, malaguetta peppers, kidney beans, and many of our "typically southern" dishes were created by West Africans using American vegetables in an African manner, dishes such as yams, greens, gumbo, hush puppies, and pralines.

Yams and sweet potatoes have provided an unbroken link in the diet of black people from the 16th century. West Africans were primarily farmers and the most universally cultivated crop in West Africa was the yam.

In America, slaveholders regularly supplied slaves with yams and sweet potatoes because they were plentiful and could be stored for a long time.

Africans also made a dessert of grated sweet potatoes mixed with coconut milk, cinnamon, and sugar, wrapped in banana leaves and steamed. In the West Indies, blacks still make this dessert and call it ducanoo. Here we call it sweet potato pudding.

Another popular vegetable in West Africa was okra, which was cooked in many ways. The most distinctive way was in gumbos, where the okra was boiled, drained, mashed, and mixed with grated shrimp, onions, malaguetta peppers, salt and palm oil. In America, Africans continued to make gumbos which have become world famous.

Throughout West Africa, women and children gathered "bush greens" and cultivated collard and mustard greens. From the Congo Africans brought a dish made of cultivated and wild greens, simmered with oil, peppers, and seasonings, which came to be known in creole cooking as gumbo z'herbes. In most Southern kitchens it is simply called mixed greens.

Cornbread in its many varieties has been the main type of bread eaten by Africans since coming to America.

One 18th century European wrote that Africans "pound the grains of maize to reduce it to meal which they make into a paste and bake in cinders."

This recipe was later followed by slaves in America where it was cooked in hot ashes or on the blade of a hoe and came to be called ash cakes and hoe cakes.

When the batter was deep fat fried, it was called "hush puppies," allegedly because it was fed to hungry dogs at early fish fries presided over by black cooks.

Pork, the principal meat in the black American's diet, was also one of the popular meats of West Africa. With the exception of those few tribes which had been converted to Islam, pork was considered a great delicacy by the 16th-18th century West African.

In their tradition, all parts of the animal were cooked and used, chitterlings (intestines), hog maws, hocks, ears, and tails. Meat was preserved by salting, corning, and sun-drying, even after refrigeration became widespread in America, Africans often preferred the taste of meats preserved by those methods.

An early version of what is now called barbecue existed in West African countries and in antebellum America, slave cooks presided over large picnics which featured barbecue. Pits were dug to hold hot coals over which green hickory sticks provided a grate for roasting meat. Sauces were made of peppers, mustard and vinegar, much as they had been made in West Africa.

Peppers were the most liberally used spice in West African cooking and still today are important in Southern kitchens. Hot pepper sauce is considered necessary to many Southerners to pour over greens, meats and fish. Oil, too was an intrinsic part of West African cooking, primarily palm oil, which they also found available in Brazil.

In the West Indies, the Africans used coconut oil but in the southern United States, fat from pork was substituted for the tropical oils they had known. Oils have continued to play a major part in the cooking of blacks in America. They use oils as their African ancestors did, to deep fry or flavor vegetables, meats, and fish.

Food, like art, music and literature, is an expression of a people's culture. One of the few vehicles through which American blacks have been able to preserve their African heritage is food. No wonder it is today often called "soul food."

CARIBBEAN CRUISE—Mr. and Mrs. John Lange of 825 N. Beach, Waveland, are pictured on the deck of Carnival Cruise Line's "fun ship", TSS Festivale, just before sailing out of the port of Miami on a 7-day cruise. During the voyage, the 35,000 ton flagship will make calls at: Nassau, Bahamas; San Juan, Puerto Rico and St. Thomas, U.S. Virgin Islands.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER BY THEMSELVES...

THE WHOLE FAMILY SUFFERS.

It's not an unusual story. Take a successful individual who has everything going for him. Great family, promising career and life's daily problems he tries to solve with alcohol — and sometimes drugs. Eventually, his problems will grow to include chemical dependency. Can his family handle that?

What about the successful business woman? She's attractive, personable — and an alcoholic. Her favorite hobby — drinking martinis at lunch and after work. How long can she stay on top? Her home life as a wife and mother has already turned into a nightmare for her family.

ALCOHOLICS DON'T SUFFER ALONE.

At GULF OAKS HOSPITAL & CLINIC, chemical dependence is viewed as a family illness and recovery for the entire family is considered essential. If a family member or close friend is destroying their life by alcohol or drug indulgence, they need help. Professional medical help. At GULF OAKS, family involvement is an integral part of our program. Team members work with the family to help them understand the patient's problem as an illness.

DON'T SUFFER ALONE. HELP IS AVAILABLE — AND SO NEAR.

Head Start conducting survey

Mississippi Action for Progress, Inc. (commonly called MAP) is a non-profit corporation operating Head Start centers in 20 counties in Mississippi.

MAP is funded through a grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and the Administration of Children, Youth and Families.

The funds are used to provide comprehensive Head Start services (health, education, nutrition, social services and parent involvement) for eligible children ages 3 up to school age of low income families and their communities.

Services provided to children enrolled in the Head Start program are at no cost to the families. In order to better serve the children and the families in the Head Start program, as well as those children and families not in the Head Start program who would benefit from this program, MAP volunteers will be in the community conducting an indepth survey through Friday during the hours of 2 to 6 p.m.

Also, in addition to the survey, the field workers will be conducting pre-registration for the 1986-87 school year for children ages 3-6 years old. "Your cooperation during this survey is greatly appreciated," said Linda Lather, director of MAP's Area 1 which includes Hancock, Pearl River and Perry counties.

Small Business Administration schedules open forum

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
COUNTY OF HANCOCK
NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, on the 10th day of August, 1981, Allen David Travis and Elizabeth D. Travis executed a deed of trust to John A. Scalfide, Jr., Trustee, to secure an indebtedness therein mentioned to Barbara Ann Bankston and Birch O. Bankston, which deed of trust is duly recorded in Book 236, pages 861-82, Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land, Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of said indebtedness, and the said Barbara Ann Bankston and Birch O. Bankston, the legal holders of said indebtedness, have requested the undersigned Trustee to foreclose on said deed of trust for the purpose of paying said indebtedness and costs; NOW, THEREFORE, I will, on the 18th day of March, 1986, within legal hours, offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash at the front door of the Hancock County Court House in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, the following described property located in Hancock County, Mississippi, described as follows:

Commencing at the Southwest corner of Lot No. 34 in the Fourth Ward of the City of Bay St. Louis, thence South 70° East 50 feet to a point for the place of beginning of the lot of land hereby described; thence South 70° East 50 feet, more or less, to the Southwest corner of a lot of land owned by Albert J. Garcia and wife; thence North 20° East along Garcia's line 186 feet, more or less, to the Northern line of said Lot 34; thence North 70° West 50 feet to a stake; thence South 20° West to the place of beginning; being a part of the West Half of Lot 34, Fourth Ward, City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi, as per the official plat of said City made by E. S. Drake, C.E., and filed in the office of the Clerk of the Chancery Court of Hancock County, Mississippi.

I will convey only such title as is vested in me as Trustee.
ADVERTISED, POSTED AND DATED, this 21st day of February, 1986.
